

MRS. L. J. LEGGATE DIED SUDDENLY YESTERDAY.

Mrs. L. J. Leggate, one of Fulton county's oldest citizens, died at her home at "Coombs Springs," a few miles south of Hickman, yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Death was the result of heart trouble. While feeble, owing to advanced age, Mrs. Leggate had suffered no illness. She was preparing to arise from her bed when the fatal paroxysm struck her. She called for her son, Bogey Leggate, and expired a few minutes later.

Deceased lacked only a few weeks of being 81 years old. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Coombs, pioneers of the county. Most of her life has been spent in this immediate vicinity.

She was the mother of eight children, but only three survive her—Price Leggate, of Hickman, Bogey Leggate, with whom deceased made her home, and Mrs. Jno. Wright.

Funeral and burial services were held this morning, the remains being entered in the city cemetery.

"Grandma" Leggate was a noble, christian woman; loved and respected by all who knew her. She possessed many friends who will learn with keen regret that she has been summoned to her home—"that home not built with hands, eternal in the heavens." Her death breaks a link between the present generation and a by-gone century, but those eighty-one years of Christian womanhood still shine forth as an example worthy of emulation, and a priceless heritage to those near and dear to her.

Sympathy to the bereaved.

WHICH RULE?

I SAY, shall we rule by the Golden Rule or the rule of gold that sways, So mightily human interests now in the keen commercial days?

Shall a man be a man in the sense God meant when he made in his image fine, Out of the drifting dust of the earth, the human form divine?

Or shall he be as a broken clod for the growing of other men's grain? I say, shall we rule by the law of God or the law of might and main?

SHALL we grind men's bones in the money mill, in the gormand hopper of greed, Unheeding the cry of the crushed out lives and the blood of the hearts that bleed?

Shall a man be clay in the hands of his kind and bound to the potter's wheel Or an agent free to aspire and attain to the goal of the spirit's zeal? Shall we make him as ore in the ingot stamp, as a cog in the conquering mills?

I say, shall we sway by the gold of love or the love of gold that kills?

SHALL we bind men's souls to the barren rock for the vulturous beaks to flay, For the buzzards of lustful loot to pick till the soul be withered away?

Shall a man be booty for men more strong, be prize for the pirate's sack, Or a craft to sail all seas of hope on his own unsharpened track?

Shall we make him an admiral on the bridge or a slave in the galley's hold? I say, shall we rule by the Golden Rule or ruin by the rule of gold?

UNITED STATES DOLLAR WORLD'S STANDARD.

The American dollar ruled the financial world Tuesday with an iron grip. Pounds sterling, francs, liras, and virtually all foreign exchange, went down to new depths in the torrent of bills that poured into the exchange markets from American manufacturers seeking to pay for big war contracts for munitions and other supplies purchased here by the European belligerents.

Coincident with the startling decline in exchange rates, came the assertion from an unimpeachable source that every contract made by American manufacturers for supplies sent abroad for payment in American

48 HOURS RAIN FALL; MORE PREDICTED.

A rain of extra-ordinary length, breath, depth, presumably tail-end of the gulf coast storm, minus the wind, which played havoc at Galveston, reached this section at a late hour Tuesday night—and has been with us since, without a break. Rain has been falling steadily for 48 hours, with prospects for a continuation throughout the day. In fact, the weather report this morning predicts rain today and tomorrow.

In a way the rain has been beneficial, putting the finishing touches on late corn, reviving pastures, filling up ponds, etc.

The rain fall of the past 48 hours has been estimated at from 2 to 3 inches.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Well Always to Keep Watchful Eye on the Grocer and Butcher—Splendid Green Salad.

Don't allow the grocer to weigh your butter, lard, etc., in a wooden dish. These dishes weigh from one to three ounces, according to their size, and you are therefore paying for that much wood at the price of butter.

Don't let the butcher weigh your meat and then trim it and charge you for the trimmings that you have paid for. The fat can be rendered into lard and the bones used in soup. The butcher knows that they have a value for when you do not take them he resells them for six or seven cents a pound. Do not be afraid to ask for what is your due and to demand honesty and full measure.

A green salad served with cheese, nuts or eggs, and a French dressing with whole wheat sandwiches, can be made the main course for luncheon. A cheese soufflé served with spinach makes most unnecessary. Beets stuffed with creamed mushrooms and nuts are delightful, and a ring of mashed potatoes filled with creamed carrots and peas will please the most fastidious appetite. A canape, bisque or puree made of fresh vegetables, or a cocktail made of mixed fruits, is a good beginning to either luncheon or dinner. Desserts should be fresh fruits, fruit ices or gelatin dishes, with sponge cake or other plain iced cake.

Lemon sirup, made by taking a lemon for twenty minutes and then squeezing out the juice in half a cupful of sugar, is very good for house-ness.

Remove ink and fruit stains from the floor by washing the stained part with cold water, then covering it with baking soda. When dry, wash off the soda.

Never throw stale macaroons away. They can be crushed and stirred into and sprinkled on top of ice cream, giving it a most delicious flavor.

Rub a little butter under the edge of the spout of the cream pitcher; it will prevent a drop of cream from running down over the pitcher.

Before washing lace curtains, baste a narrow strip of muslin along the outer edge, allow it to remain until the washing and drying process is complete.

To cover jelly glasses, cut letter paper in circular pieces that will just fit inside the glass, dip the paper in brandy, cover with tin covers or large pieces of paper pasted down.—Dallas News.

to users of flour. We are again handling Belle of Ava, the highest grade flour manufactured. When flour was so high we tried other brands in its place, but nothing takes the place of Belle of Ava, and now we are able to sell it at the same price as other brands sold in town which are not so good. The price is 90 cts. a sack, or $6.75 a barrel. Pride of South is a high grade flour, too, and the price of it is but $6.50 the barrel. Try a sack of Belle of Ava. I guarantee it.
